NCUK helped me get into The University of Manchester where I would otherwise not have been able to. My Manchester Law degree allowed to sit the Bar Exam and become a NY attorney. I would say that I am very proud to have gone through the experience of education in the UK. Given my background, this experience allowed me to expose myself to a different perspective and at the same time opened doors for employability for me anywhere in the world, including where I am today.

Ahmad's Educational Journey

Ahmad Kushaly studied the NCUK International Foundation Year in the United Kingdom before progressing to The University of Manchester to study Law. The hard work that Ahmad put into his time with NCUK and The University of Manchester allowed him to successfully graduate with a degree in Law, giving him the opportunity to progress to a career in his chosen field.

Career so far

After graduating from university, Ahmad rejoined his family in the USA where he completed an internship and applied for jobs. Ahmad completed the New York Bar Exam, allowing him to practice in the state of New York leading him to gain his current job role of In-House Attorney for the Natural Resource Governance Institute (NRGI). As sole attorney at NRGI, Ahmad provides advice and direction for all legal matters within the organisation, including cross-border transactions, establishment and operation of international subsidiaries and affiliates, strategic alliances and much more. Ahmad is also NRGI's Data Protection Officer and heads NRGI's Support Services Committee, providing him with many more tasks and responsibilities; his ability to take on a number of roles successfully showcasing his dedication towards his career.

What's next for Ahmad?

Ahmad would like to develop his skills further and progress to more roles throughout his career and is happy to support and assist other students who are following a similar journey.
