The city of Exeter is a really great area for student living. It is safe and friendly, and has lots of good restaurants and pubs. Our Streatham Campus is located in Devon, and close to several beaches and national parks. My favourite place is the Quay, as I enjoy jogging there.

The university is really diverse and international, and I have made friends with lots of people from different backgrounds. There are societies for different ethnic and religious groups so you can meet people with a similar background to you.
