Shiyong's Educational Journey

In 2017, Shiyong Cho studied the NCUK Master's Preparation (PMP) in South Korea, which allowed him to enhance his English skills as well as his confidence in large part thanks to his teachers at the IEN Institute. After successfully completing the PMP, Shiyong progressed to The University of Manchester to study Operations, Project and Supply Chain Management. Studying this degree allowed Shiyong to expand his knowledge in his specialty and graduate with high grades allowing him to look to pursue his dream career.

Career so far

Even before studying his MSc, Shiyong gained an interview with Korean logistics company, Unico Logistics after sharing his CV on a job listing website and worked at the company for two years. Prior to graduation, Shiyong also had a part-time job at Hankook Tire, gaining further valuable experience about logistics. The combination of previous work experience and his university degree helped Shiyong to gain the role of Senior Contract Logistics Specialist at DACHSER Korea Inc. Some of Shiyong's main roles include setting up contract logistics projects, managing daily operations, participating in client meetings for analysing potential businesses, managing warehouse operations data, being in charge of the monthly settlement of accounts and making operations KPI report and more.

What's next for Shiyong?

In the future, Shiyong hopes to become a professional logistics and supply chain consultant. In order to achieve this goal, Shiyong will focus on working hard in his current role. Additionally, Shiyong would also like to share his knowledge and career experience with others and would be willing to study a Ph.D. in order to accomplish this.
